Dear Michael:

I am writing to thank you for a very professional roofing job performed on our office building in North Scituate. Your crew of a dozen men came on the appointed date and time, worked very diligently, and replaced the entire backside of the roof in less than one day. Not only that but I was called every time before your men were to show up reminding me that material was going to be delivered or the work was to begin the next day. Equally impressive was the site clean-up after the work was completed. Wrapping around the roofing materials was picked up, old shingles were disposed of properly, and the worksite did not show a trace of your having been there.

Working with your company has been clearly different than working with other contractors who either do not show up when they promise or show up and leave before a job is done. Your help in working with my A/C person minimized my involvement in the work that had to be done. In fact, this was one of those times when all I needed to do was tell you what needed to be done and you took it from there without any hassles at all on my part.

You may not be the least expensive roofer in the area but you are the most impressive. You can be sure I will recommend you to others seeking your services and I will also remain a loyal customer.

Sincerely,

Richard H. Eckhouse, Ph.D.
